Testimonials

When I posted this project, I was amazed by the sheer number of great applicants. What made Amber stand out from that highly qualified crowd was her authentic enthusiasm for the project. From her cover letter onward, it was very evident that she not only read the project description very thoroughly, but she'd already begun giving serious thought to how she'd tackle it. It was as if I were getting the benefit of her full attention before I'd even hired her; not only that, her thoughts were fresh, original, and very effectively articulated. That made my seemingly challenging selection problem easy! Once hired, I knew right away that I'd made the right choice. Amber was always A+ on the basics (prompt/clear communication, adherence to deadlines, professional demeanor, quality work always on time), but she went so far beyond that, too. I'm a Boomer trying to write to a Millennial audience, and Millennial Amber not only "translated" the financial content beautifully, she made it an ongoing point to help me truly understand financial perspectives different from my own, and how to express sometimes complex and/or technical ideas in a more natural, approachable way. She's a born collaborator, and her positive, authentic style is contagious. I hired her hoping she'd inspire some of my readers; I ended up being hugely inspired by her myself. I've already taken steps to further engage her on more aspects of my business; I value her skill, but also her perspective, opinions, and drive.

Chris Smith of Awesome Financial Future

There is not enough room on this web page to write all the good things I have to say about Amber. I highly recommend her for her skill, great work, and communication. She is the best.
